

AMENDMENTS TO THE CLAIMS

Claims 1 and 2. (Canceled)

3. (New) A foldable cellular phone comprising:

a first casing comprising a display and an antenna;

a second casing comprising an operating portion and a battery and being foldably connected to the first casing; and a third casing accommodating a camera unit and a receiver unit therein; wherein said first casing is formed with a bore for receiving said third casing in an end portion thereof and is rotatably connected to said third casing;

wherein said camera unit and said receiver unit are mounted on said third casing such that when an output portion of said receiver unit faces said display, a lens portion of said camera unit is concealed by an end face of said first casing.

4. (New) The foldable cellular phone of claim 3, wherein said bore is positioned at substantially a center of said first casing above said display, and wherein said third casing is rotatable in a vertical direction within said bore.